Ma Wan Park Noah's Ark opens May 25 Internet booking to help manage visitor flow

The world's only full-size replica of Noah's Ark at Ma Wan Park has welcomed many visiting groups including over 10,000 guests from disadvantaged groups, in a successful trial run since it was completed at the end of last year. Ma Wan Park has now announced that the facility will open to the general public on May 25 (Monday). Tickets will be available for booking from 12:00 noon on May 20 through the Noah's Ark web site.

There will be three types of tickets available at promotional prices from HK$55 to $100 during initial stage of opening, including free admission to the Nature Garden. There will also be concessions for children and seniors.

Noah's Ark will be fully self-financing, without government funding for operation. Ma Wan Park will use all surplus from operations to fund maintenance and upgrade facilities. Neither the Ma Wan Park Limited nor the developer will profit from developing or operating Ma Wan Park. The Park's accounts will be strictly monitored.

The Noah's Ark provides diverse educational facilities. To ensure comfort and order, visitor numbers will be controlled. People are advised to book tickets in advance on the Internet.
